MOUNT CARMEL COLLEGE

Belonging ~ Diversity ~ Excellence ~ Relationship

From the Head of Primary Campus

Welcome to Term 2! With the warm weather during the school holidays, I hope students and their families were able to venture outdoors and enjoy some time together.

HOLIDAY WORKS

Families who have visited our primary campus may have noticed the new concrete walkway which has been laid, including new steps into the yard area. We are pleased with this work, which is part of our plan to improve disability and general access at both campuses.

LEARNING ACROSS CAMPUSES

The term has commenced with some wonderful examples of learning across campuses. Students from the Western Technical College recently conducted a construction assessment task, utilising the nature space at the primary campus. WTC students were required to use a jackhammer to dig a small trench. They set up barriers, organised spotters and completed a Job Safety Analysis before starting work. Primary campus students were invited to come and say hello and watch the excitement from a safe distance. The site was packed up and returned to normal at the end of the session. This initiative will take place on several more occasions throughout the year, giving students from the primary campus an opportunity to learn more about the Western Technical College.

Each year, students in Year 5 and 6 visit the secondary campus to participate in Cooking and Technologies lessons. This week the students in 6C baked muffins and explored a variety of woodworking skills.

PARENT-TEACHER-STUDENT INTERVIEWS

Parent-Teacher-Student interviews have been taking place at both the primary and secondary campuses.

Year 9 Visual Art: Self-Portrait with Pet Inspired by Frida Kahlo

Jodi Ireland & Kelli Lewis, Visual Arts & Design Teachers

Stage 1 & 2 Creative Arts - Modified

Last term saw exciting things happening in the art room within Stage 1 and 2 Creative Arts -modified. Students have explored a range of creative avenues and media, influenced by artists ranging from Reg Mombassa to Victoria Villasana. Stage 2 students Mack Durrance and Kalani Ivcevic looked at the bold style of work created by Mombassa. Mombassa is well known in Australian pop culture for his fun paintings which were inspired by Australian landscapes and suburbs which surrounded him, but he is perhaps most known for his Mambo collaboration and t-shirt designs. Inspired by the style of Mombassa, Mack created a pastel artwork titled 'The History of Australia and Uluru,' whilst Kalani's interpretation showed bold use of line and shape through the use of acrylic paints and posca paint markers to create 'The History of Australia's Evolution.' In his artist statement, Mack said "I saw on my trip to Darwin 1 or 2 years ago, waterfalls and that's what part of my picture is supposed to be. We then drove back to Adelaide and stopped at Uluru. I had fun making this and I am proud of it. I think that Uluru looks successful because of its colours. I learned how to use a blending tool to blend some of the colours.' Kalani states that 'In my picture I used some Australian themes to draw Uluru, the Sydney Harbour bridge and the Sydney Opera house, smoke, trees, a factory and a slingshot. For my background, half is orange and half is blue because the orange is the land and the blue is the ocean. I drew this because it was fun to do...I used strong, bold colours like Mombassa.' Kalani reflected on his work and how he '...wanted to paint something good and explore some different things. I used strong, bold colours like Mombassa. I used acrylic paints and a light blue and black Posca paint marker. My painting looks amazing, especially since it was framed. I like the black frame; it reminds me of watching a film in the cinema.'

In Stage 1 Creative Arts -modified, Quan Mai looked at the work of Mexican textile artist Victoria Villasana who would use embroidery thread to sew colourful patterns into printed photographs. Quan's self-portrait is titled 'Colours and lines. Quan says 'I used a picture of me from school photos. It is a black and white photo and I look happy. I used posca pens and my photo. I looked at Victoria Villasana's work. She is a Mexican artist who does photos with wool. I like the lines. Mrs Ireland printed my photo in black and white. I made this one with posca markers. I learnt about the colours. I am happy with my artwork. I like the colours. I had fun making it.'

Peace Lutheran College Pen Pals

Last term, 2NS and 2M started writing to our pen pals from a school in Queensland called Peace Lutheran College. It is outside of Cairns in Kamerunga. Our pen pals are in Year 5. We wrote a letter and made Easter cards for our new friends. During the school holidays, we received the replied letters and were very excited when the letters were delivered to our school.

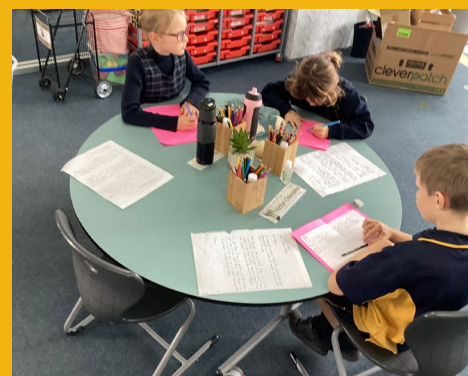

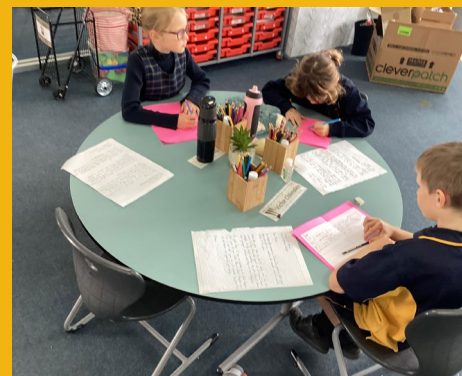

Our learning intention was to practise different writing style and develop relationship through exchange of letters.

We look forward to replying and learning more about them and their school
